WHAT IS THE FENIX DXTM ?

Organo FENIX DX is a delicious pink lemonade flavored dietary supplement drink mix to help support your natural, daily detox process, helps support your immune system and more. It can be added to water, juice, lemonade, tea or other beverages, or even added to your ogxFENIXTM shake to provide a boost of flavor and nutrition.

Our body's detoxification process is more complex than most people realize. Our skin, our digestive system, our liver, lungs, and kidneys all play a role in defending our health and helping our body fight free radicals, toxins, and aging. Of these systems, our digestive system is key to our overall health. As 80% of our immune system is in our gut, this is where nutrients are absorbed and more. And as we age, the mitochondria of our cells age too. Our mitochondria produce energy and waste, and when we are young are able to clean out the waste easily. As we age our systems slow, and cellular aging begins. So taking care of BOTH our digestive health, and cellular health can help us lead healthier lives.

Organo Daily DX is not a colon cleanse or laxative. It supports the digestive system and regularity with soothing herbs like aloe and licorice. Then it blends in chamomile to help us fight stress, and then vitamin C to help defend our immune system. It is caffeine free, and great for everyday support of your health.

Chamomile Extract – Chamomile is an ancient herb that has been used for hundreds of years for its healthy properties. The FENIX DX drink mix uses a concentrated chamomile extract for many benefits. Some studies show it may help us sleep better, and fight the negative effects of stress. One study in 2009 showed that chamomile extract can help support a healthy mood and focus, and another found it can help support healthy sleep – which is when our body's natural detox process is working. Chamomile is known for its soothing and calming properties, which can help support a healthy digestive system.

ORGANO

Burdock – Burdock is a member of the daisy family, and has been studied for its free radical scavenging properties.

Acai – The mystery and power of the Amazon can be found in this purple fruit, known for its nutritional benefits. These fruits can help support a healthy immune system. According to a study published in the June 2008 issue of the Journal of Agricultural and Food Chemistry, Acai berries contain a large number of antioxidants that help scavenge cell-damaging free radicals from the body. In particular, the study, which was conducted by researchers at the Department of Nutrition and Food Science at Texas A&M University, showed that Acai berries possessed the highest antioxidant activity to date.

Bilberry – Bilberry is similar to a blueberry, and has been studied for its antioxidant properties. Some studies suggest it is beneficial for eye health, in addition to supporting gut or digestive health.

Blueberry – Blueberries are known as super foods for their antioxidant capabilities, and also help protect good liver health.

Licorice Root Extract – Licorice has been used in foods and cooking for centuries, due to its sweet licorice flavor. Licorice root extract has been used to support digestive health, soothing the stomach, and other benefits.

Aloe Vera – Aloe Vera is known for its soothing properties, for skin, and for supporting digestive health.

Ganoderma – This beloved and studied mushroom can help support antioxidant protection.

Did you know? The cells of your body have mitochondria – the power houses of the cell. These cells act like our digestive system – they take nutrition in, break it down to help support energy. As we age, our mitochondria also age, and slow down. This slow down can result in a weaker immune system, fatigue, and more. B Vitamins can help support a healthy mitochondria, and support proper cell function.

By consuming healthy fruits, vegetables, antioxidants and B Vitamins, we help our body's mitochondria get the nutritional support at the cellular level, helping our cells detox naturally.
